Birthday surprise

Pin a love note at their favourite spot. They open it only when they walk there.

1. You pin it

Write your message. Pick the cafe where you first met. Set a tiny 40-m unlock radius — just the table.

New GNote

"Happy 30th, love.
Open this at our coffee spot. Same table."

2. They walk to it

On the morning, your partner gets a soft notification. They reach the cafe. LyPinn unlocks the GNote — the surprise is real because the journey was.

Why it's not just a text

Place holds the memory

The cafe matters. The bench matters. A normal message can't carry that weight.

Earned, not delivered

They have to actually be there. The surprise is the walk, the doorstep, the table.

Time-bound

Set it to expire after they read it. No screenshot, no permanent trail — just the moment.
